

PROF. AHMED OKASHA,
MD, PhD, FRCP, FRCPsych, FACP(Hon.)

- Professor and founder of the Institute of Psychiatry and Director of WHO Collaborating Center for Training and Research in Mental Health, Institute of Psychiatry – Ain Shams University, Cairo, Egypt.
- President of World Psychiatric Association (2002 – 2005)
- President of the Egyptian Society of Biological Psychiatry, of WFSBP
- Honorary President Arab Federation of Psychiatrists and Egyptian Psychiatric Association.
- Editorial Advisory Board of 23 International Scientific Journals.
- Member of National Mental Health Council , Member of Supreme Council of Culture, Member of Supreme Council of Health, Member of National Council Addressing Fundamentalism and Terrorism
- Published more than 300 Original Articles in National and International Journals.
- Editor and contributor of 47 national and international books in the field of psychiatry and psychology in both Arabic and English languages, member of the editorial board of many international psychiatric journals
- Fellow of Royal College of Physicians (Edinburgh), and Royal College of Psychiatrists (London) and Presidential Commendation American Psychiatric Association.
- Honorary Doctorate and Fellowship from many Universities and Psychiatric Associations
- Awarded from the Egyptian Academy of science, The State Prize in creativity in Medicine (2000), State Merit award in Medical Sciences (2007), Nile (Moubarak) Merit award in Medical Sciences (2010), Medal of Science and Arts of the first degree (2013).
- Honorary Doctorate in Science from Ain Shams University, Cairo 2019.
- Member of the Egyptian Presidential Council of Distinguished Scientists.
- Adviser to the Egyptian President to Mental Health and Community Integration.